

ANNUAL INDEX

The Logistics and Transportation Review Volume 27 — 1991

Roger Dale Abshire and Shane R. Premeaux Motor Carriers' and Shippers' Perceptions of the Carrier Choice Decision	351
Dr. Andreas Antoniou Economies of Scale in the Airline Industry: The Evidence Revisited	159
F.J. Arcelus and J.E. Rowcroft Small Order Transportation Costs in Inventory Control	3
John Howard Brown An Economic Model of Airline Hubbing-and-Spoking	225
Peter A. Cassidy and H. Ian Toft A Model of the Australian Wool Clip: Technology and Marketing Logistics	113
Edward L. Fitzsimmons Factors Associated with Intramodal Competition Reported by Small Railroads	73
Kamvar Farahbod and Laddie Logan A Conjoint Analysis Approach to Service in the Motor Carrier Industry	185
Mark Hansen and Richard Gerstein Capital in Flight: Japanese Investment and Japanese Air Services in the United States During the 1980s	257

Hercules E. Haralambides
An Econometric Analysis of the Sea-Going Labour Market
Mark H. Keaton
Train Crew Size, Crew Cost, and Service Levels for Single Carload Freight Traffic in the U.S. Rail Industry	333
James A. Kling, Curtis M. Grimm and Thomas M. Corsi
Hub-Dominated Airports: An Empirical Assessment of Challenger Strategies	203
Paul D. Larson
Transportation Deregulation, JIT, and Inventory Levels	99
Rasarentman Logendran and M. Palmer Terrell
Capacitated Plant Location-Allocation Problems with Price Sensitive Stochastic Demands	33
Aqbal Mansur, Steven J. Cochran and John E. Phillips
The Relationship Between the Equity Return Levels of Oil Companies and Unanticipated Events: The Case of the Exxon Valdez Accident	241
Paul R. Murphy and Richard F. Poist
A Comparison of Headhunter and Practitioner Views Regarding Skill Requirements of Senior-Level Logistics Professionals	277
Paul R. Murphy, Jonathan E. Smith and James M. Daley
Ethical Behavior of U.S. General Freight Carriers: An Empirical Assessment	55
Brian F. O'Neil and Jon L. Iveson
Strategically Managing the Logistics Function	359
Joffre Swait
Technology of Production and Potential for Energy Conservation in Short-Haul Freight Transportation in Brazil	137

- Richard J. Tersine and Samir Barman
Lot Size Optimization with Quantity and Freight Rate Discounts 319
- John E. Tyworth
The Inventory Theoretic Approach in Transportation Selection Models: A Critical Review 299